

REVENUE IMPACT OF PROPOSED LEGISLATION
79th Oregon Legislative Assembly
2018 Regular Session
Legislative Revenue Office

Bill Number:	HB 4027 - A
Revenue Area:	Property Tax
Economist:	Jaime McGovern
Date:	02/21/2018

Only Impacts on Original or Engrossed Versions are Considered Official

Measure Description:

Provides gigabit exemption for qualifying companies for one year and repeals related statute for all future years. Extends low income housing tax exemption program sunset by six months.

Revenue Impact (in $Millions):

	Biennium
	2017-19	2019-21	2021-23
Local Governments	0	23.3	23.3
Local Education Districts	0	11.7	11.7
Total Revenue Change	0	35	35

Impact Explanation:

Gigabit: Revenue gain: Oregon Department of Revenue has denied the gigabit property tax exemption to the only two companies that applied under current law (SB 611, of the 2015 session). The amended measure would give these two companies the (gigabit) exemption for the 2017-2019 biennium, and then repeals ORS 308.673, 308.677 and 308.681, eliminating the tax exemption for all future years. The revenue neutrality ($0 impact) of 2017-19 should be interpreted as DOR granting the Companies an exemption that would have been ultimately granted under current law. The revenue gains in all future biennia should be read to mean that under this measure, DOR will no longer grant the exemption that would have occurred under current law. However, if the companies would have met the criteria at a later date, say 2020, then the expected revenue gain would not occur until after that date, and the current biennia would show a one-time total revenue loss of approximately $17.5 million. It is important to keep in mind that, the tax exemption is based on the property tax rate based on the Oregon apportionment of the intangible value of multistate companies, this value could increase or decrease with the value of the company over time.

Housing extension: The tax exemption once granted, continues for 20 years. This is a program that has been renewed multiple times. However, there has been no notification of specific projects that must be developed in that six-month window. Thus, expected revenue impact is minimal.

Creates, Extends, or Expands Tax Expenditure: Yes No

The housing exemption, extends and aligns the sunset to the end of the fiscal instead of calendar year.
