

I am not sure what the Senate committee is trying to do with our Senator. Do you realize the outcry you all would have again for extolling any kind of disciplinary actions for what really isnt a threat?

Do you realize in a court of law that there would be no proof that Senator Boquist actually threatened anyone? The comment he made is not a threat, veiled or otherwise and is no difference than the different unity groups yelling bring an army. His words were merely words showing how strongly he felt in protecting his constituents and not desiring to be held as a political captive. Much of Oregon agrees with him, his words, his actions right now. Much of Oregon finds threats and Tyranny elsewhere within the Capitol.

The real threat that has been allowed, especially by our Governor, is the violence allowed to run unchecked in Portland with Antifa. I understand that many, possibly including the committee stand with her and her executive orders etc but when the real problem, that is literally causing long term physical damage is being left unchecked, you want to make an example out of a Senator who you perceive as making a veiled threat, who has done no damage and WHO ALL OF YOU KNOW, would not do whatever you were thinking of.

The support the Senators have is huge in Oregon right now and moving forward with negative consequences, on a perception, I just dont see how that will benefit anyone, especially come election time...elections are already going to be messy.

I ask that careful consideration be given, fair considerations be given as I know each and every person who felt threatened in anyway would say something similar to help ward off a potential action. Right now the majority of Oregon feels threatened and in negative consequences upon our Senator will only fuel that.

I will also stand up for a Democrat or any other person who is in the same position as senator Boquist.
