Postscript: I do not see that critics are looking to make changes to create a bill that will work. I see the criticism aimed at gutting anything meaningful. That is not helpful. Time is up

And some can't conceive of how better our prospects can become by harnessing our ingenuity to get out of this mess. The Oregon I love needs strong leadership now. I support a cap and trade bill that is strong enough to decarbonize our economy. Of course it will sting. So what. Whatever pain we will experience from realigning our economy will be nothing to the tragedy of our climate crisis. Conversely an effective bill will unleash new opportunities in so many arenas. We should believe in our own ingenuity.

I'm scared for what's next for the Oregon we love and the planet we all rely on. And I applaud you for your work to set us in a different direction, one that we need.

Senate Bill 1530 is currently too weak to meet the state's goals for reducing harmful pollution and provides too many giveaways to the fossil fuel industry allowing these corporations to continue polluting, as usual, harming our health and the climate. Ultimately, this proposal is too weak to meet the demands of the climate crisis.

> Senate Bill 1530 needs to be stronger to reduce pollution from fossil fuel natural gas and increase investments for the clean economy. It needs to be stronger to reduce greenhouse gases from oil companies all across the state. And investments into communities most affected by climate change -- rural, low-income, Tribes and communities of color -- need to be guaranteed.

> Oregon's young people need strong climate action. They need leaders to pass strong climate legislation that will protect the air they breathe, the water they drink, and the soil that grows the food they eat. That's why Oregon's youth have been taking to the streets in record numbers in all parts of the state. They are calling for leaders to pass strong policies that will give them a future free from devastating climate disasters and collapsed economies.

From ranchers in Union County to tree farmers from Clackamas County to farmworkers in the Willamette Valley, there are strong voices from rural Oregon calling for action and their voices shouldn't be ignored.
