I support strong regulation of green house gas production in Oregon, including putting a significant tax on the consumption of fossil fuels, with payments to low-income, low-wealth people to help them with the hardship of necessary use and transition to alternatives.

I am 63 years old, and have had a lifelong commitment to minimizing my impact on the earth, including caring for children already born rather than producing more humans. It's better to reduce our consumption now than to try to ameliorate more severe damage later ("a stitch in time saves 9").
