

To whom it may concern,

I am a proud small business owner in Eastern Oregon. My business is based in Enterprise, Oregon with a store front creating media content. I specialize in photography, videography, web content, weddings, outdoor television and specifically creating media packages for small businesses to promote them selves.

The revelations of COVID-19 have been significant to my business so far. At this moment people have put their lives on hold and bookings as well. This years wedding season is on hold and this a large part of my business. Weddings are seasonal events and if they don't book now, this could lead to no bookings for the year. This could be very significant for my self and my small business. My average wedding package is $5,000 with a goal of booking between 10-20 a year. Since COVID-19, clients have decided to not book and put life on hold. Losing Weddings could be at least a $50,000 loss.

As of right now, people are on hold for all bookings. This time of year is when I book out the dates for the coming seasons. With possible clients lives being on hold, they do not know if they will book my time at all this year.

Each year I average 50-100 days of free lance outdoor television filming. I charge $500 a day for those. Losing these bookings would be a $25-50K loss. These clients do not know when this event will end and they have put all bookings on hold.

Locally I create content for small businesses. Including banks, hospitals and local businesses. These businesses are struggling to keep going right now and do not know if they will book out any content creation this year. This could be a loss of approximately $30,000.

COVID-19 is having a large impact and we all hope to weather the storm.

I soon will be in need of revenue or serious help.

Thank you

--

Grady K Rawls

541-908-2375

rawlsg@gmail.com

www.paperstreetenterprise.com

@gradyk

@paperstreetenterprise

@paperstreetweddings