

The number and rate of confirmed cases of COVID-19 in Oregon continue to increase. Many Oregonians are doing their part and are voluntarily sheltering at home. The positive results of our efforts are greatly diminished by the lack of support by the leadership and others. Does Oregon leadership and the local media realize that this is a clear metric and an indication that Oregon is not doing enough to end the pandemic? There must be an end feckless guidelines and powerless proclamations. It is necessary to enforce a prohibition on all nonessential travel and social interaction in Oregon. It is the moral obligation of all public media to spread this word to end the virus.

Best regards,
Bill Morrison
Hillsboro, Oregon