

ROCKY MOUNTAIN
ELK FOUNDATION

Mark Lambrecht

Mark Lambrecht is Director of Government Affairs for the Rocky Mountain Elk Foundation (RMEF), a hunter-based wildlife conservation organization with a mission to ensure the future of elk, other wildlife, their habitat and our hunting heritage. RMEF's 235,000 members and 12,000 volunteers have already conserved or enhanced more than 7.9 million acres of vital habitat, opened or secured more than 1.2 million acres for public access, helped restore elk to seven states and reached thousands of youth and adults with conservation and hunting heritage outreach projects.

RMEF's 16,334 Oregon members and partners such as the Oregon Departments of Fish and Wildlife and State Lands, federal land management agencies and private landowners have completed 963 conservation and hunting heritage outreach projects in the Beaver State with a combined value of more than $63.4 million. These projects have conserved 832,903 acres of habitat and opened or improved public access to 134,368 acres.

Lambrecht has more than 25 years of experience in natural resource policy, government and public affairs and environmental management. He has led significant efforts with Congress, state and federal agencies and state legislatures to benefit natural resource conservation, hunting and access to public lands. He previously directed a natural resource industry trade association and has worked for utilities, universities, engineering firms and former U.S. Senator Max Baucus. He earned a master's degree in resource conservation from the University of Montana College of Forestry and a bachelor's degree in political science from Gonzaga University.

Mark, his wife Amy and their two sons are avid hunters and anglers.
