

The Seattle Times

April 23, 2020

Severe coronavirus outbreaks stagger some meat-packing plants in Washington

"We are afraid ... we have no voice," Corral said. "We knew there would be positive cases. We didn't expect this many."

The Seattle Times

May 4, 2020

Washington's largest meat-packing plant, hard-hit by COVID-19, to reopen Tuesday

The plant was shut down April 24 after more than 100 workers tested positive for COVID-19. ... Three of the Tyson workers at the Wallula plant who contracted COVID-19 have died

The Register-Guard

May 7, 2020

34 test positive in Albany frozen food plant outbreak

The Guardian

May 15, 2020

US coronavirus hotspots linked to meat processing plants

Almost half the current Covid-19 hotspots in the US are linked to meat processing plants

KGW8

May 9, 2020

Update: 26 workers at Oregon seafood processing plant test positive for COVID-19

The Oregonian

May 9, 2020

Coronavirus cases at Astoria seafood plant rise to 26

The Oregonian

May 22, 2020

Vancouver frozen fruit processor reports 38 coronavirus cases

The Washington Post

May 25, 2020

The meat industry is trying to get back to normal. But workers are still getting sick — and shortages may get worse.

There are now more than 11,000 coronavirus cases tied to Tyson Foods, Smithfield Foods and JBS

THE HILL

May 26, 2020

11,000 coronavirus cases tied to three meat processors

UFCW

a VOICE for Working America 555

Dan Clay, Union President
Jeff Anderson, Secretary-Treasurer