

I have rental properties in the Portland metropolitan area and I live in California. Before you write me off as just a greedy landlord let me say something that you probably heard before. My expenses have not stopped. Utility charges, mortgages, real estate tax repair and maintenance must be paid. I cannot do this without rental income. The burden of providing free Housing should not just fall on landlords. If this is what is wanted all of society should contribute. Here's a little sarcasm for you how about waiving real estate taxes this year? Did you say the government can't afford to do this, because services must be paid for? Well I can't afford to provide free housing also.

Thank You
