

P. L. Welch's $0.02

To Whom It May Concern -

If police want to use extreme tactics such as crowd control munitions or even announcing that events are unlawful that should at the very least Merit some extra oversight regarding subsequent actions they take. Would it be so hard that upon declaring an unlawful assembly all subsequent interactions were recorded on video or that any and all arrests should be for resisting arrest or violence as opposed to loitering or minor property crimes?

Sincerely -

Paul L. Welch
