

At this unprecedented time of history we must do everything in our power to help people with the most basic of human needs, a place to shelter. We must extend the eviction moratorium to provide assistance to the thousands of Oregonians who may soon be evicted.

Erin Fielding