

Hello Task Force,

I really appreciate the work that you are doing! I have a concern about our ability to confirm a person's residency before they start receiving their health benefits. I grew up in Alaska, and there are many stories of people fudging their residency in order to still receive their Permanent Fund Dividend from the State. I've seen other examples, of people working abroad, and maintaining residency in states where they have no intention of living. I believe that there may be an influx of people who "move" to Oregon for these new health benefits, while physically living elsewhere.

Thank you!

Collin Stackhouse