Also, it has been challenging to stay up and informed of the work of the TAGs and Task Force. • Ongoing concerns with the decline in member participation. • Recognize the challenges with community engagement, due to the ongoing pandemic has impacted the attention and focus of community members and stakeholder partners. It has been difficult to engage community and public partners as these entities have and remain focused on responding to the COVID-19 pandemic, wildfires, and other urgent pressing issues. • Acknowledge controlling the costs of prescription costs and the importance of soliciting input from the public. • Ensure coverage of services that keep individuals and families healthy, including prevention and wellness focused services and the integration of wholistic practitioners and allied health services. • Members also briefly discussed interest in including high-quality, long-term services and supports in any proposal put forward by the Task Force including paying workers in long-term care a living wage. • An ask of the Task Force is whether its final proposal will be fair to taxpayers? • Individuals who do not support single-payer often are focused on “cost” versus “what will change and be provided.” Question is how
