

To Whom It May Concern:

Senate Bill 139

I had the worst trouble with the insurance company and prior authorizations this year which took nearly a month to get straightened out. They made me try a new medicine instead allowing the medication I had already been on which was working just fine and I ended up almost going to the emergency room as I broke out in a rash. OxyContin ER seems to work for me to maintain a halfway decent life. Why do I have to go through all this pain and suffering for the insurance company to try new stuff I feel like I am a guinea pig for them. I have two grandkids that I take care of and it is difficult enough to have to deal with them. I have had them since they were three years old and now they are nine years old. Please tell the insurance companies to quit trying to be doctors.
