Frontier Communications' Three-Year Investment in Oregon Tops $118.7M

PORTLAND, Ore. - May 12, 2015 - Frontier Communications (NASDAQ: FTR) has invested a total of $118.7 million in capital expenditures in Oregon during the past three years, including more than $39.5 million in 2014.

Major capital expenditures supported engineering initiatives and improved network infrastructure for residential and commercial customers in Clackamas, Columbia, Coos, Curry, Douglas, Josephine, Linn, Marion, Multnomah, Union, Washington, Wallowa and Yamhill counties.

"Frontier's investments in Oregon are being felt throughout the communities we serve," said Trent Anderson, Frontier Senior Vice President and General Manager for Oregon. "Our powerful network, together with our dedicated local employees, is delivering tremendous benefits to our customers and shareholders alike."

The company's Oregon market also received incremental support in 2014 from the Federal Communications Commission's (FCC) Connect America Fund (CAF). The CAF funding, totaling more than $945,000, allows Frontier to accelerate broadband availability in underserved areas.

"Continued investment in Oregon is vital to the region's economic development, increases opportunities for consumers, and supports businesses of all sizes from small shops to larger enterprises," commented Anderson.

Frontier has invested more than $118 million of its own capital over the past three years to increase broadband access and improve network infrastructure.

Frontier's 2014 operational highlights for Oregon include:

- Launch of 1 Gig service for residential FiOS® customers in specific neighborhoods of Beaverton
- Availability of 100 Mbps to residential FiOS customers
- Availability of 150 Mbps to commercial FiOS customers
- Southern Oregon Coast Network Diversity
- Enablement of High Bandwidth Ethernet Services

Throughout the year, Frontier sponsored dozens of community events in Oregon, and participates in key nonprofit boards and committees, including Hillsboro Hops Baseball, Oregon International Airshow, American Heart Association, and Providence Child Center for Medically Fragile Children.
