

Honorable Committee,

This bill needs to be removed from consideration in its entirety. Its flawed in thought process, and then in wording.

With the last revision, I will give an example that comes to my mind immediately.

Since the State of Oregon (ODFW) allows trapping for coyotes, does that mean Trappers need to take wounded animals in to be tended too?

Coyotes are nature's survivors, and as they move into our suburban communities, like Sherwood where we live. The complaints continue on a daily basis of cats and dogs disappearing and increasing. We have caused this by not allowing a checks and balance to this population by not allowing to control them from outside our cities, and as the population grows, they move into the communities in search of food, since the wilds can no longer support them.

Please reject this bill, and let ODFW, and Hunters decide what is best for this issue, and act accordingly

Respectfully

Dean Goodding
