

This is anti-American! Whether you decide to vaccinate your children and which vaccines you choose should remain a parental right. The state should not dictate what we inject our children with especially when there are potential risks involved. This is a tactic to bully and force parents. This is not about vaccines, it is about freedom.