

I would love to see this bill pass to see both parents have equal rights! A father is just as important in a child's life as the mother is! We see all too often a mother getting full custody right from the get go and the father is always fighting for more than just weekends. Have seen too many times, a father being told that they will never have custody of their children unless the mother is pretty much incarcerated or made the choice to walk away. The courts really seem to lean towards the mother! I'm a single father myself. The main reason I can't have joint custody is because she wants the child support. Since she isn't a deadbeat mother, the courts see no reason that we should share custody and I am stuck being a weekend warrior father.

Most fathers anymore, don't even put up the fight because they are always told that they will lose.

We are in a time of equality for everybody! This is just another step in that direction that we need to go!!

Thank you and God bless!!
