

Hear my story! I'm a father of a 5 year old back in 2013 my ex wife give born to an amazing boy. That was take by c.p.s the date he was born. I work to get him back. I was married to his mother that the time we get our son back. During the case my lawyer ask me if I want to end the married because she did not think it would be a good thing for her to be around him. I say no he need his mother. His mother only talk about suing c.p.s. 1 month after we get him back (I was the one taking care of him almost of the time) she take him down to new Orleans does not tell me if she coming back or were they are going to be staying. I call everyone I can think after a week of nothing from her they tell me it not a crime to take him and they nothing they can do. So I start to divorce her she come back and hind my mail so I can't end the married. and get our son

2015 November she send divorce paper to my father house (my son is with me most of time) some how she get a pubic defender. who does not know how to send the paper to me and that she did not serve me properly on the 8th of December if I can it right by the 18 of that December the same judge signed off on the default judgment and because she was in with the judge first my want to be lawyer response was kick out I did not find this out tell after the new year. when I get to mediation my ex tell me that her lawyer is going to be in on it and I must let her the mediation or she will not let me see my son (now she keep him from me for 4 month) when I call my lawyer what going on he say her lawyer know better then be in mediation was he wrong she had another lawyer with her and talk to the mediation in private and I end up with a parenting plan that you would give a man that committed domestic violence. I only sing it to move the case long and my lawyer say that when we go to court I can tell the judge what happen after we get the joke of a parenting plan I have my son full almost Thursday to Sunday. in the plan she is to drop him off but that never happen I go and pick up because he mine son fast f forward a year later I have my lawyer write up the final judgement (which he can't write to legal standard) and it single by the judge which my ex call me on

2017 by this time I have had my almost of the time I had to take him from her more time then I can to count. the three biggest time were when she was not watch in the house and he get poisons that was any er visit. When she try to commit suicide and get her doctor to think she was safe because she mom and I would come over and take care of her because she was still suicide three time some how my son some how tripped and hits his head on the door frame. the whole time I pay her clind support by April 2018 she order me to give him back to her full time because I was look for a new place and my father may have find us both a new place but because I did not know the address only because I had not put the application I had to return our son to her right now because it was not my time to have him and she putting me back to square one and I have to see a metal health doctor for another 90 day to get unsupervised visit with him this is what she does ever time she does not get her way. so I hire a second lawyer and I ask the court for a modification of custody to fast forward she call cps during the case because I cut my kids hair and i find during the first case she call them on me and ask the court for a t.p.o both were seen has a joke the three in 2017 that the er call cps on her for we,re so little of a concern they didn't go by her house but me supposedly cutting his hair meant they had to come by my house and do an investigation my lawyer the whole want to give her a settlement and get a new parenting plan that was just a cut and paste and removed any restriction on her. cps violate the medical release i gave them by telling my ex-wife everything my counselor said her reasoning was that my ex-wife had a safety concern by the end cps was on my side but my settlement and new visitation order change only two thing joint physical custody which is a joke because she think that mean she does something i have to say yes and my sister can see my son . my ex think that mean she can change that with go to court if i do not do has she say if you get any question
