

I'm not anti-vaccine, but I'm pro vaccine reform. Although I feel that the idea of vaccines can be incredible at protecting society as a whole, the "one vaccine fits all" approach is not appropriate when there have been enough injuries and deaths from those who had sensitivities, whose parents were likely pro-vaccine prior to the injury or death of their child. These victims deserve to tell their story, to be heard, and to be compensated from the companies responsible, not ignored and discredited.

The manufacturers should be testing their products and coming up with safer and more innovative ways to protect ALL citizens before policy mandates a vaccine program that has the potential to harm even the least among us, but victims who are harmed nonetheless.

Thank you for any consideration you may have for those who are trying to make our world a safer and healthier place.

-Austin Daniel

Portland, OR

--

Austin Daniel LMT #16840

The Good Hurt - Deep Tissue & Intuitive Massage

RiverEast Acupuncture

2216 SE 50th Ave

Portland, 97215

cell 1-503-871-3183

austindlmt@gmail.com

www.facebook.com/thegoodhurtmassage