

This is our story of vaccine induced injuries:

My name is Lindsay McPhail. I have 4 boys, 2 have been injured by vaccines. Both of my older two boys regressed after having vaccines. At 16 months, my oldest son Sawyer ran high fevers after a delayed dose of pediarx (now off the market I believe due to high levels of aluminum.) After this incident that landed us in the ER, Sawyer began a journey that ultimately lead to an ASD diagnosis. When our second oldest son Thatcher was 18 months I was hesitant to continue vaccines. We had him on a delayed schedule as well. His doctor wasn't supportive and of course told me there is not link between vaccines and autism. We filled out a 7 page developmental assessment for Thatcher before the vaccine, he was ahead with his words and cognitive abilities. He cried for three days straight after his dTap vaccination. We called the doctor because along with with the non-stop crying, our happy well adjusted boy with lots of words had stopped talking and would not allow anyone near him. He asked us to wait a month to reassess the situation. A month later nothing had changed. Thatcher cried most of the day everyday, he had no words, we couldn't get near him without causing him to scream and because we had just been down this road with Sayer we knew what it was. The doctor actually called me to apologize because never in his 30 years of practice had he seen such huge regression after a shot. Within 6 month Thatcher was diagnosed with PDD-NOS. He is now 11.

Because 2 of our boys have been injured by vaccines our doctor (who is a pro-vaccine MD) has advised us NOT to inoculate our two younger sons. I still have to watch the videos and sign the waivers verifying that I've watched the government issued propaganda. After speaking with someone from the Jackson County Health Dept., enraged that I had to watch the videos when we've been through what we have, I asked who was speaking for me??? Who was fighting for families like mine who now have to deal with life long neurological disorders because something in our DNA does not work well with vaccines? He said no one. And that pretty much sums it up. He actually told me that UNTIL the other boys were injured by vaccines as well, our doctor's note meant nothing to the state.

Why is it so crazy to believe that not all vaccines are good for all people?? We would never say that all medications are good for all people? The first thing we're asked at our pediatrician's office is if we have any allergies to medication. So why in the world is it so far off to believe that some people just aren't meant to be vaccinated? My children had a reaction to being vaccinated that landed them on the autism spectrum. I am so sick of being made to feel irresponsible or uneducated because I am choosing to follow my doctor's advice and NOT inoculate my younger two boys. If this bill passes I will pull my kids from public school. I will not inject something into their blood streams that I know (and have evidence to prove) could harm them.

I hope this helps.
