

I am not a lawyer, a doctor, a social worker, or a politician.

I do work as a volunteer in Iowa with a program that is called Circles of Support and Accountability. 90 % of the "core" people that we work with have an addiction for drugs or alcohol, after working with them for up to 2 years, seeing them become productive members of society it is so discouraging that 2 of them have died of an overdoses. I feel if it had not been for the dealers who themselves are addicted to "money" feeding their addiction by pushing drugs these people would be alive.

The reason I feel these dealers should be incarcerated is because I think they have a hard time breaking their addiction for money when they are on parole out on the streets. They never break the cycle of available drugs for victims and the opportunity to make large amounts of money.

Please consider passing Taylor's Law.

Do the right thing!
