

I am unable to be there . I believe action is necessary. I have thought about this a while. The consequences are severe. The most effective immediate action is stop the stupid ongoing wars. The military burns one half of the fuel. I read a well researched book in 2008,'The World on the Edge' by Lester Brown. He has other books. He gives figures to feed people and to go to sustainability. The most important thing we can do to stop the destruction of the planet is stop the wars. Other things are helpful also. Check it out.
