Last fall I was reelected as zone director on the Clackamas SWCD board of directors.

My understanding is this bill was introduced to change election requirements state wide because of one person in East Multnomah SWCD who attempted to run for a zone director position on the board and didn't meet the requirement for owning and/or managing 10 acres. Currently there is opportunity to serve on a SWCD board minus this requirement with 2 at large positions or appointment as an associate director.

Those of us who serve on a SWCD without pay have a passion for conservation and knowledge gained from our the ground experience. It is insulting to see the requirements changed because of the misguided experience of one person.
