

He also believes that if you really want to make a difference then figure out how to put the earth back on it's axis from when it was altered by the earthquake that caused the Christmas tsunami several years ago in Malaysia. Baring that maybe you could stop volcanos from blowing up and sending ash into the air that goes around the planet several times and impacts the climate more that any human cause could imagine. The other thing you might consider is getting all of Asia to participate since they are the major polluters of the Ocean. It was proven and admitted by the emissions experts years ago that cars have reached the maximum cleanliness possible and the need to have vehicle emissions inspections is obsolete. So now the solution is just to eliminate cars altogether. Until politician get their heads out of the sand and wake up to the reality that they are just squandering tax payer money they will continue these ridiculous policies that just throw money down a rat hole. So, my father, Ramon W. House of Clackamas County absolutely does not support any sort of bunk that includes funds for Global Warming
