

Support SB 204 & HB 2138- Rural Volunteer EMT Tax Credit

The Oregon Rural Health Association (ORHA) was founded in 1992 to build a stronger voice in Salem for all rural practitioners. Today the ORHA is composed of individuals and organizations dedicated to providing leadership on rural health issues through advocacy, communication and education.

Who receives the credit?

- An Emergency Medical Responder, EMT Basic, Advanced EMT, EMT-Intermediate or Paramedic, providing some services on a volunteer basis is eligible for the credit.
- About 400 taxpayers collect the credit.

What is the credit?

- $250 tax credit for eligible providers who:
 - Work 25 miles or further from a population center of 30,000
 - Volunteer more than 20% of their total time as EMT
- Costs the state ~$200,000 per biennium.

Why is it important?

- If any of us has an accident while we are traveling in rural Oregon, most likely it is volunteer emergency medical providers who will come to our aide. These are critical service providers.
- Volunteers must take time, away from family and other obligations to receive the necessary training.
 - To become an EMT takes about six months going to class two evenings a week and every other Saturday.
 - It costs over $2000 for books and testing fees to become a volunteer.
 - Then they have to do 30 hours of continuing education to maintain their license.
- The $250 tax credit helps offset some of these costs. We think it's a small price to pay for the volunteers who help save lives.
