

Good morning,

I am a disabled Navy Veteran & Momma of 2 amazing kids 1 & 4, they have never had a vaccine in their lives, both are incredibly healthy & my fear is if we were forced to vaccinate them all the work we have done to boost their immune systems with eating clean & healthy & extremely reducing toxin exposure would go out the window.

On top of that I am a disabled Navy Veteran who believes in freedom, I believe every parent & every person should have the freedom to choose what medical procedures they receive, I believe if the government steps in to make medical decisions for extremely capable well informed adults & parents that would without a doubt be taking away a basic human right.

It also isn't fair to take away free education from children to force medical procedures either, every child deserves freedom of choice AND free education.

I highly recommend if people are truly wanting us to get vaccinated to please change the dialogue from forced vaccinations to safe vaccinations then & only then you will really see a change. Thank you for your time & have a wonderful day. :) Mindy Bowmer
