Dear Chair Brad Witt,

As a whitewater paddler who personally enjoys visiting Oregon's rivers, I ask for your support to protect access to our state's incredible and unique waterways through the passage of House Bill 2835, as it is amended. This legislation (as it is to be amended) will preserve and enhance public access to waterways by:

* Creating a required public process where state land and waterway agencies would be required to engage in a public review process for any public waterway access closures greater than 30 days in length. The legislation allows for exceptions for emergencies such as wildfire and for critical wildlife and ecological management activities, as well as for short-term construction and/or site improvement related closures.

* Requiring that state agencies work in cooperation to produce a report each year that is available to the public, reporting the number of waterway access sites that have been closed to access by state agencies in the previous calendar year and the reasons for each closure; as well as providing the number of public access sites for recreational use of public waterways that have been opened by state agencies in the previous calendar year.

* Finally, the legislation seeks to enhance public access to public waterways by incorporating a feasibility assessment for waterway access integration into new state bridge construction or reconstruction projects. This would not require the retroactive review of existing state bridges, nor require a state agency to fund the construction of access to a waterway, and would encourage interagency coordination on access projects where access improvements are suitable.

Preservation of access to public waterways and public lands is a critical backbone of the growing outdoor recreation economy, and a love for rivers is a value that is deeply embedded in the history and identity of our state. Rivers offer unique opportunities for residents and visitors alike to boat, hike, fish, enjoy wildlife, and treasure our states incredible natural resources.

For the reasons stated above, I ask that you please support HB 2835 as proposed for amendment.

Thank you,

Sincerely,
Nathan Warren

Dear Chair Representative Witt, Co-Vice Chairs Representative Gorsek and Representative Sprenger, and Members of the Committee,

As both an outfitter and a private boater that enjoys paddling Oregon's rivers, I ask for your support to protect access to our state's waterways through the passage of House Bill 2835. The legislation (as it is to be amended) will preserve and enhance public access to waterways by:

- Creating a public process through which state agencies would engage in a public review process for public waterway access closures greater than 30 days in length. The legislation allows for exceptions for emergencies such as wildfire and for critical wildlife and ecological management activities, as well as for short-term construction and/or site improvement related closures.
- Requiring state agencies to produce an annual report to the legislature that includes the number of waterway access sites that have been closed by state agencies and the reasons for each closure as well as the number and locations of new/re-opened public access sites.
- Enhancing public access to public waterways by incorporating an access feasibility assessment into new state bridge construction projects. While not obligating state agencies to make improvements, this would encourage interagency coordination on access projects where access improvements opportunities are identified.

Northwest Rafting Company shares the beauty of Oregon's rivers with guests from all over the world. We run multi-day trips in Oregon on the Rogue River, Chetco River, Illinois River, and Owyhee River. Having access to paddle wild rivers is fundamental to our business' success.

Preservation of access to public waterways and public lands is a backbone of the growing outdoor recreation economy, and a love for rivers is a value that is deeply embedded in the history and identity of our state. Rivers offer unique opportunities for residents and visitors alike to boat, hike, fish, enjoy wildlife, and treasure Oregon's incredible natural beauty.

For the reasons stated above, I ask that you please support the amended HB 2835.

Dear Chair Brad Witt,

My fiance and I moved to Oregon FOR THE RIVERS! The outdoor recreation in the Pacific Northwest, and of course specifically Oregon, is extremely important to so many of its residents. We move here for it, we stay for it, and we will raise our kids here because of it. The waterways and access to them is the heart and soul of so many of our favorite activities. In addition to supporting American Whitewater's message below, I wanted to add my personal sentiments to how much bills like this mean to us. Please support our ability to remain a stakeholder in river access decisions for years to come!

Dear Chair Brad Witt,

As a whitewater enthusiast, I enjoy running Oregon rivers. I'm asking you to protect access to our state's beautiful rivers by passing the amended House Bill 2835, which will preserve and enhance public access to waterways by. This legislation:

- * Requires public review and comment for access closures greater than 30 days, but sensibly allows exceptions for emergencies, critical environmental concerns, or short-term construction closures.

- * Requires state agencies to report each year on the number of waterway accesses that have been closed OR opened by state agencies.

- * Enhances access to public waterways by studying the feasibility of accesses when building or rebuilding state bridges. Many bridges provide vital accesses for river runners and other outdoor enthusiasts. The bill would not require any retroactive review of existing bridges, and it would not require the state to actually fund access construction.

We need to preserve public access to our state's waterways, both to maintain Oregon's outstanding outdoor opportunities and to support our growing outdoor recreation economy.

Please support HB 2835.

Sincerely,

Dear Chair Brad Witt,

As a whitewater paddler who personally enjoys visiting Oregon's rivers, I ask for your support to protect access to our state's incredible and unique waterways through the passage of House Bill 2835, as it is amended. This legislation (as it is to be amended) will preserve and enhance public access to waterways by:

* Creating a required public process where state land and waterway agencies would be required to engage in a public review process for any public waterway access closures greater than 30 days in length. The legislation allows for exceptions for emergencies such as wildfire and for critical wildlife and ecological management activities, as well as for short-term construction and/or site improvement related closures.

* Requiring that state agencies work in cooperation to produce a report each year that is available to the public, reporting the number of waterway access sites that have been closed to access by state agencies in the previous calendar year and the reasons for each closure; as well as providing the number of public access sites for recreational use of public waterways that have been opened by state agencies in the previous calendar year.

* Finally, the legislation seeks to enhance public access to public waterways by incorporating a feasibility assessment for waterway access integration into new state bridge construction or reconstruction projects. This would not require the retroactive review of existing state bridges, nor require a state agency to fund the construction of access to a waterway, and would encourage interagency coordination on access projects where access improvements are suitable.

Preservation of access to public waterways and public lands is a critical backbone of the growing outdoor recreation economy, and a love for rivers is a value that is deeply embedded in the history and identity of our state. Rivers offer unique opportunities for residents and visitors alike to boat, hike, fish, enjoy wildlife, and treasure our states incredible natural resources.

For the reasons stated above, I ask that you please support HB 2835 as proposed for amendment.

Thank you,

Sincerely,

Dear Chair Brad Witt,

As a whitewater paddler, guidebook author and resident of Salem, OR I have spent the last 15 years paddling Oregon's rivers. We have a high density of scenic, rugged and wild rivers in this state. To be able to travel down these rivers, to experience Oregon by way of rivers, we must first be able to access them. So I ask for your support to protect access to our state's incredible and unique waterways through the passage of House Bill 2835, as it is amended. This legislation (as it is to be amended) will preserve and enhance public access to waterways by:

* Creating a required public process where state land and waterway agencies would be required to engage in a public review process for any public waterway access closures greater than 30 days in length. There have been areas historically utilized by boaters that are currently off-limits, and the closures were done without notification of the public. As a part of the boating community, I know we would have appreciated the opportunity to have our voices heard before those areas were closed.

* Requiring that state agencies work in cooperation to produce a report each year that is available to the public, reporting the number of waterway access sites that have been closed to access by state agencies in the previous calendar year and the reasons for each closure; as well as providing the number of public access sites for recreational use of public waterways that have been opened by state agencies in the previous calendar year.

* Finally, the legislation seeks to enhance public access to public waterways by incorporating a feasibility assessment for waterway access integration into new state bridge construction or reconstruction projects. This would not require the retroactive review of existing state bridges, nor require a state agency to fund the construction of access to a waterway, and would encourage inter-agency coordination on access projects where access improvements are suitable.

Rivers offer unique opportunities for residents and visitors alike to boat, hike, fish, enjoy wildlife, and treasure our states incredible natural resources.

For the reasons stated above, I ask that you please support HB 2835, currently in the House Committee on Natural Resources.

This legislation (as it is to be amended) will preserve and enhance public access to waterways by:

* Creating a required public process where state land and waterway agencies would be required to engage in a public review process for any public waterway access closures greater than 30 days in length. The legislation allows for exceptions for emergencies such as wildfire and for critical wildlife and ecological management activities, as well as for short-term construction and/or site improvement related closures.

* Requiring that state agencies work in cooperation to produce a report each year that is available to the public, reporting the number of waterway access sites that have been closed to access by state agencies in the previous calendar year and the reasons for each closure; as well as providing the number of public access sites for recreational use of public waterways that have been opened by state agencies in the previous calendar year.

* Finally, the legislation seeks to enhance public access to public waterways by incorporating a feasibility assessment for waterway access integration into new state bridge construction or reconstruction projects. This would not require the retroactive review of existing state bridges, nor require a state agency to fund the construction of access to a waterway, and would encourage interagency coordination on access projects where access improvements are suitable.

Preservation of access to public waterways and public lands is a critical backbone of the growing outdoor recreation economy, and a love for rivers is a value that is deeply embedded in the history and identity of our state. Rivers offer unique opportunities for residents and visitors alike to boat, hike, fish, enjoy wildlife, and treasure our states incredible natural resources.

For the reasons stated above, I ask that you please support HB 2835 as proposed for amendment.

Thank you,

Sincerely,

Dear Chair Brad Witt,

As a whitewater paddler who personally enjoys visiting Oregon's rivers, I ask for your support to protect access to our state's incredible and unique waterways through the passage of House Bill 2835, as it is amended. This legislation (as it is to be amended) will preserve and enhance public access to waterways by:

* Creating a required public process where state land and waterway agencies would be required to engage in a public review process for any public waterway access closures greater than 30 days in length. The legislation allows for exceptions for emergencies such as wildfire and for critical wildlife and ecological management activities, as well as for short-term construction and/or site improvement related closures.

* Requiring that state agencies work in cooperation to produce a report each year that is available to the public, reporting the number of waterway access sites that have been closed to access by state agencies in the previous calendar year and the reasons for each closure; as well as providing the number of public access sites for recreational use of public waterways that have been opened by state agencies in the previous calendar year.

* Finally, the legislation seeks to enhance public access to public waterways by incorporating a feasibility assessment for waterway access integration into new state bridge construction or reconstruction projects. This would not require the retroactive review of existing state bridges, nor require a state agency to fund the construction of access to a waterway, and would encourage interagency coordination on access projects where access improvements are suitable.

Preservation of access to public waterways and public lands is a critical backbone of the growing outdoor recreation economy, and a love for rivers is a value that is deeply embedded in the history and identity of our state. Rivers offer unique opportunities for residents and visitors alike to boat, hike, fish, enjoy wildlife, and treasure our states incredible natural resources.

For the reasons stated above, I ask that you please support HB 2835 as proposed for amendment.

Thank you,

Sincerely,
Alan Grapel

The legislation allows for exceptions for emergencies such as wildfire and for critical wildlife and ecological management activities, as well as for short-term construction and/or site improvement related closures.

* Requiring that state agencies work in cooperation to produce a report each year that is available to the public, reporting the number of waterway access sites that have been closed to access by state agencies in the previous calendar year and the reasons for each closure; as well as providing the number of public access sites for recreational use of public waterways that have been opened by state agencies in the previous calendar year.

* Finally, the legislation seeks to enhance public access to public waterways by incorporating a feasibility assessment for waterway access integration into new state bridge construction or reconstruction projects. This would not require the retroactive review of existing state bridges, nor require a state agency to fund the construction of access to a waterway, and would encourage interagency coordination on access projects where access improvements are suitable.

Preservation of access to public waterways and public lands is a critical backbone of the growing outdoor recreation economy, and a love for rivers is a value that is deeply embedded in the history and identity of our state. Rivers offer unique opportunities for residents and visitors alike to boat, hike, fish, enjoy wildlife, and treasure our states incredible natural resources.

For the reasons stated above, I ask that you please support HB 2835 as proposed for amendment.

Thank you,

Sincerely,

Dear Chair Brad Witt,

As a whitewater paddler who personally enjoys visiting Oregon's rivers, I ask for your support to protect access to our state's incredible and unique waterways through the passage of House Bill 2835, as it is amended. This legislation (as it is to be amended) will preserve and enhance public access to waterways by:

* Creating a required public process where state land and waterway agencies would be required to engage in a public review process for any public waterway access closures greater than 30 days in length. The legislation allows for exceptions for emergencies such as wildfire and for critical wildlife and ecological management activities, as well as for short-term construction and/or site improvement related closures.

* Requiring that state agencies work in cooperation to produce a report each year that is available to the public, reporting the number of waterway access sites that have been closed to access by state agencies in the previous calendar year and the reasons for each closure; as well as providing the number of public access sites for recreational use of public waterways that have been opened by state agencies in the previous calendar year.
