BACKGROUND:

The Oregon State Fair began in 1858 as an agricultural exhibition and expanded in 1977 to include an exposition center. In 1981, the Legislative Assembly directed the Oregon State Fair and Exposition Center (Fair) to become financially self-supporting and removed General Fund support. In 1986, the Legislative Assembly authorized the Fair to sell up to $10 million in revenue bonds to renovate the horse stadium, build a new livestock pavilion, and construct an outdoor amphitheater. The Fair was unable to generate sufficient revenue to meet both operating and maintenance costs. In 1997, the Legislative Assembly requested the Joint Legislative Audit Committee to evaluate and identify solutions to the Fair's ongoing financial problems. In 2005, the Oregon Parks and Recreation Department (OPRD) began operating the Fair and, upon further evaluation, recommended a different model of governance for the Fair. In 2013, the Legislative Assembly created the State Fair Council (Council), the public corporation tasked with conducting the Fair and promoting Oregon tourism related to the Fair. In 2016, the Legislative Assembly authorized the sale of $2.5 million in bonds to finance roof repairs and HVAC upgrades.

According to the Council, the Fair realized a net gain from 2015 through 2018, but avoided historical deficits "largely due to a very frugal bare-bones spending strategy...and a relatively minimal investment compared to the millions of dollars of decades-old deferred maintenance and needed upgrades to facilities and equipment." The Council estimates Fair facilities require $33 million in deferred maintenance, improvements, and enhancements to maximize revenues and maintain future relevance.

Senate Bill 897 appropriates $5,625,000 to the State Fair Council for the assessment, deferred maintenance, improvement, and enhancement of fairground facilities.
