

ODAA: An Examination of Juvenile Measure 11 in Oregon Today

Findings:

- Universe of Juvenile Measure 11 Offenders is Small
 - There are currently 134 Measure 11 juveniles in custody in the Oregon Youth Authority (less than .7% of all of Oregon's juvenile justice population) and 225 inmates in the adult prison system who began their sentences as juveniles under Measure 11.
- Flexibility Currently Exists in the Placement of Convicted Juvenile Offenders
 - Oregon's unique system allows any juvenile offender sentenced under Measure 11 to remain in the Oregon Youth Authority until the age of 25 if the correctional authorities determine that is the best place for that offender to remain during their sentence.
- Sex Crimes & Robbery Top the Charts
 - The majority of juvenile offenders in OYA are incarcerated for sex crimes and robbery offenses.
- More than Juvenile Offenders – Juvenile Victims
 - More than 80% of the victims of sex crimes committed by juvenile offenders are under the age of 12 years old and many are under the age of 6.
- Measure 11 is Working
 - Violent crime has dropped more than 50% since Measure 11.
 - Oregon's juvenile crime rate for Measure 11 crimes is well below the national average while its juvenile property crime and juvenile drug crime (non-M11 offenses) rates are well above the national average.

INTRODUCTION

This report, the third in a series of three separate examinations by ODAA over the past 5 years, examines juvenile offenders who have been convicted of Measure 11 offenses and whom are currently in custody at the Department of Corrections (DOC) and the Oregon Youth Authority (OYA) as of September 2017.¹

Measure 11 was passed overwhelmingly by the voters in 1994 when high rates of violent crime was of great public concern. As originally written and passed by the voters, Measure 11 contained 16 violent crimes that were considered the most serious violent crimes under Oregon law. The original Measure 11 crimes and their minimum mandatory sentences were:

- Murder 25 years
- 1st Degree Manslaughter 10 years
- 2nd Degree Manslaughter 6 years, 3 months
- 1st Degree Assault 7 years, 6 months
- 2nd Degree Assault 5 years, 10 months
- 1st Degree Kidnapping 7 years, 6 months
- 2nd Degree Kidnapping 5 years, 10 months
- 1st Degree Rape 8 years, 4 months
- 2nd Degree Rape 6 years, 3 months
- 1st Degree Sodomy 8 years, 4 months
- 2nd Degree Sodomy 6 years, 3 months
- 1st Degree Unlawful Sexual Penetration 8 years, 4 months
- 2nd Degree Unlawful Sexual Penetration 6 years, 3 months
- 1st Degree Sexual Abuse 6 years, 3 months
- 1st Degree Robbery 7 years, 6 months
- 2nd Degree Robbery 5 years, 10 months

Since the passage of Measure 11 in 1994, the Oregon Legislature added Aggravated Vehicular Homicide, Arson I, Attempted Aggravated Murder, Attempted Murder, Compelling Prostitution, and Using a Child in a Sexual Display.

A spreadsheet is attached to this report that lists offenders in alphabetical order, by county of conviction, and includes the crime(s) of conviction, basic facts of the crime(s), any criminal history that is available and the age of the offender at the time of conviction. The purpose of this report and data is to assist policy makers and the general public in understanding what type of crimes juveniles who are being sentenced under Measure 11 have committed and help inform the debate on the efficacy or application of Measure 11 as it is applied to juvenile offenders between the ages of 15 and 17.

¹ The Oregon Department of Corrections and Oregon Youth Authority provided the list of juvenile Measure 11 offenders in both the adult DOC and juvenile OYA. Note there were some offenders listed by DOC/OYA who in fact were prosecuted as juveniles and they were removed from the DOC list and listed separately.

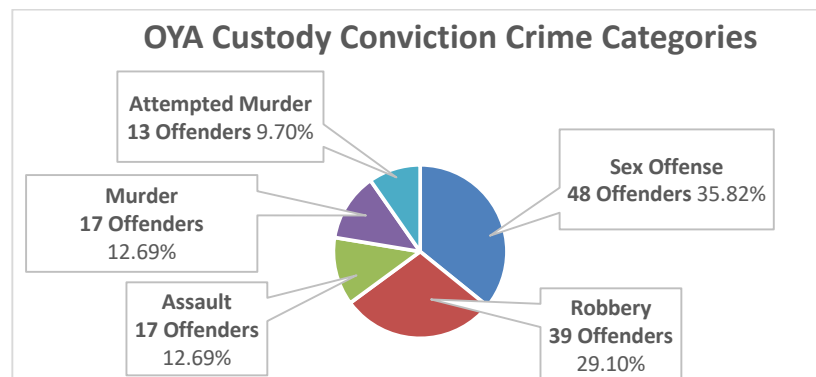

At the time of this report, the Oregon Department of Corrections reported that there were 134 Measure 11 juveniles in custody in the Oregon Youth Authority and 225 inmates in the adult prison system who began their sentences as juveniles under Measure 11. Those in the adult system with longer sentences were convicted of more serious crimes. Oregon’s juvenile justice system deals with more than 18,000 juveniles each year.² The group of 134 juvenile offenders in custody in OYA for the most serious violent crimes represent a tiny fraction (.7%) of Oregon’s overall juvenile justice population.

UNIQUE FLEXIBILITY IN OREGON

Under Oregon’s system for handling older juveniles (between 15 and 17) convicted of serious violent crimes, an older juvenile offender who commits one of the violent crimes listed under Measure 11 crime is eligible to be prosecuted in adult court. Oregon’s unique system allows any juvenile offender sentenced under Measure 11 to remain in the Oregon Youth Authority until the age of 25 if the correctional authorities determine that is the best place for that offender to remain during their sentence. The Oregon Youth Authority and the Oregon Department of Corrections also retain the authority to move an older juvenile offender out of OYA if they determine their sentence is best served with adults, not juveniles. This authority is unique around the country and allows the correctional system much more flexibility in handling the wide variety of juvenile offenders for which they are responsible. Any juvenile offender who stays in OYA past their 18th birthday can be transferred to the Oregon Department of Corrections any time before their 25th birthday, but once reaching 25, they are required to be transferred to the Oregon Department of Corrections where they will finish their sentence. If their sentence ends before their transfer to the Oregon Department of Corrections, they are released directly from OYA and never serve time in the adult system.

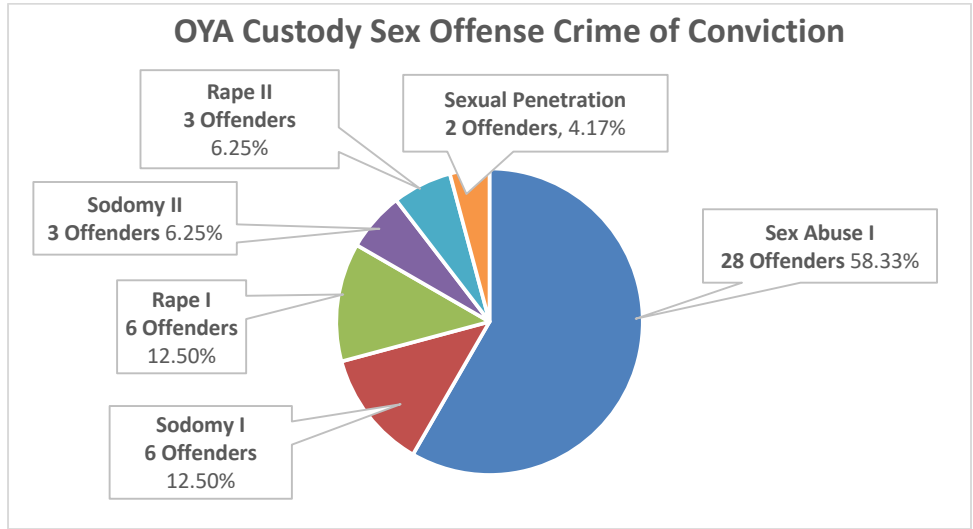

PROFILE OF JUVENILE OFFENDERS IN OYA

As noted above, there are 134 juvenile offenders in custody for Measure 11 crimes in OYA. As one can see from the pie chart below, the majority are incarcerated for sex crimes and robbery offenses. The next chart more closely examines those juvenile offenders incarcerated for sex crimes.

 Crimes of conviction for juveniles in custody in the Oregon Youth Authority in September 2017.

² According to the 2016 Juvenile Justice Information System, Youth and Referral Report published by the Oregon Youth Authority and the Oregon Juvenile Department Directors’ Association, there were 10,146 juveniles referred to the juvenile criminal system, 4,571 juveniles referred to the non-criminal juvenile system and 4,128 referred to the juvenile dependency system, for a total of 18,845 juvenile referrals in Oregon’s juvenile justice system in one year.

The next two charts show the breakdown for current offenders in custody for the convictions for aggravated murder and murder and then attempted aggravated murder and attempted murder.

AGE OF VICTIMS OF M11 SEX CRIMES BY JUVENILE OFFENDERS

In the current discussions of Measure 11, crime victims are barely mentioned. However, their importance should be considered. For example, a short examination of just the victims of juvenile offenders convicted of sex crimes under Measure 11 reveals some stark information. Juvenile offenders are only subject to incarceration if they either use physical force or the victims are very young. As can be seen from the graph below, more than 80% of the victims of sex crimes committed by juvenile offenders are under the age of 12 years old and many are under the age of 6.

CRIME RATES AND MEASURE 11

Violent crime has dropped more than 50% since Measure 11 was passed by the voters in 1994 and took effect in 1995.

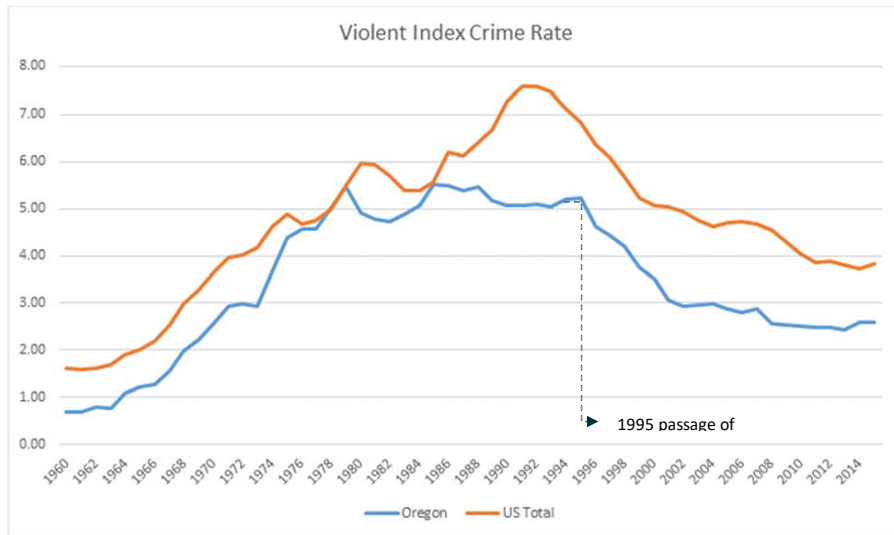

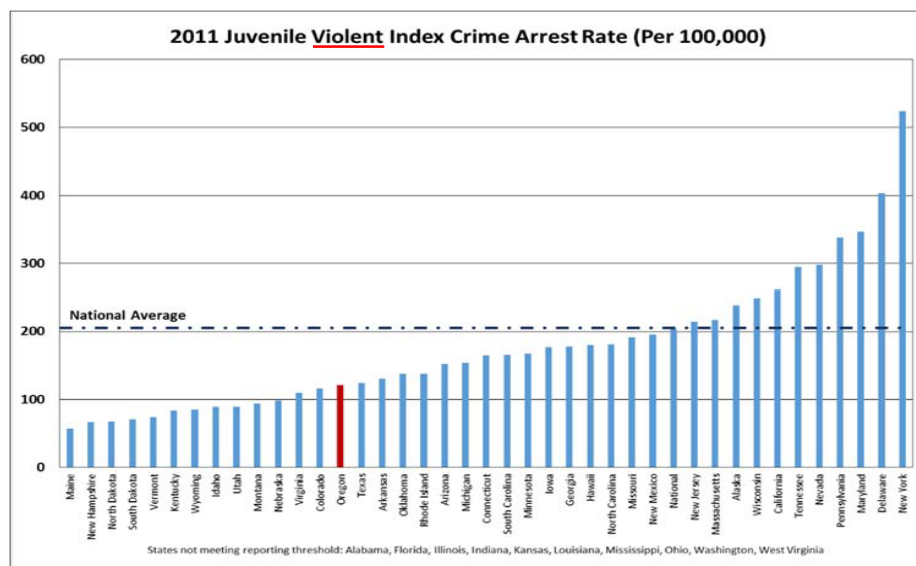

Chart: Source is the Oregon Criminal Justice Commission (2016)

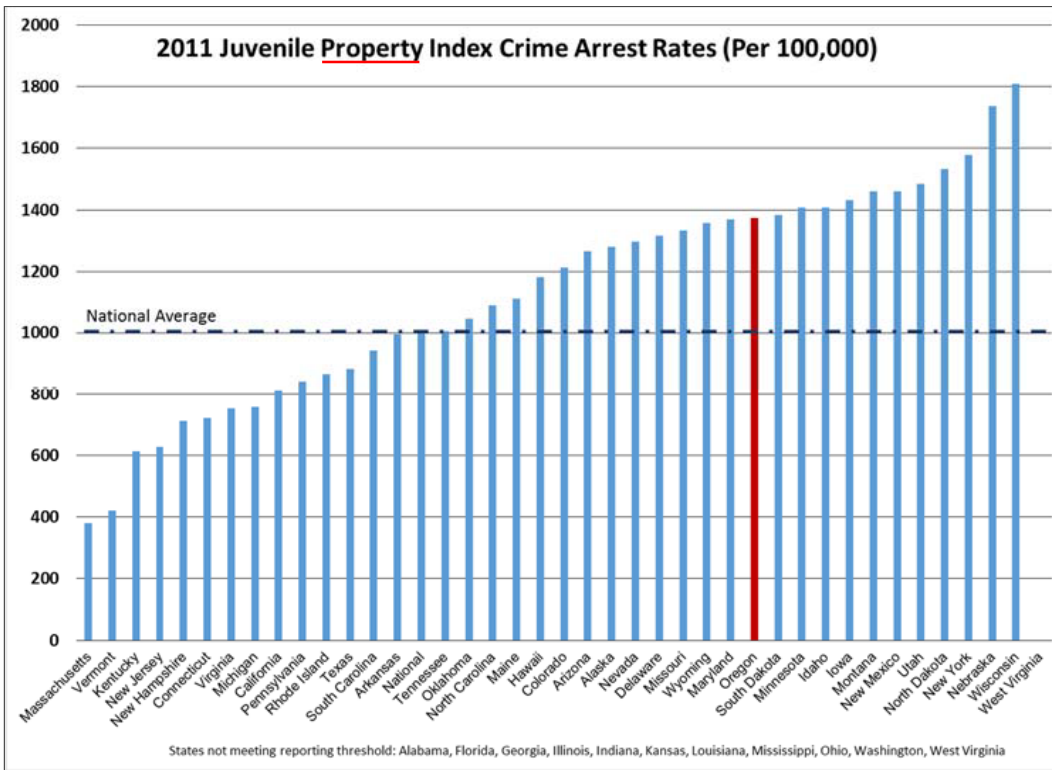

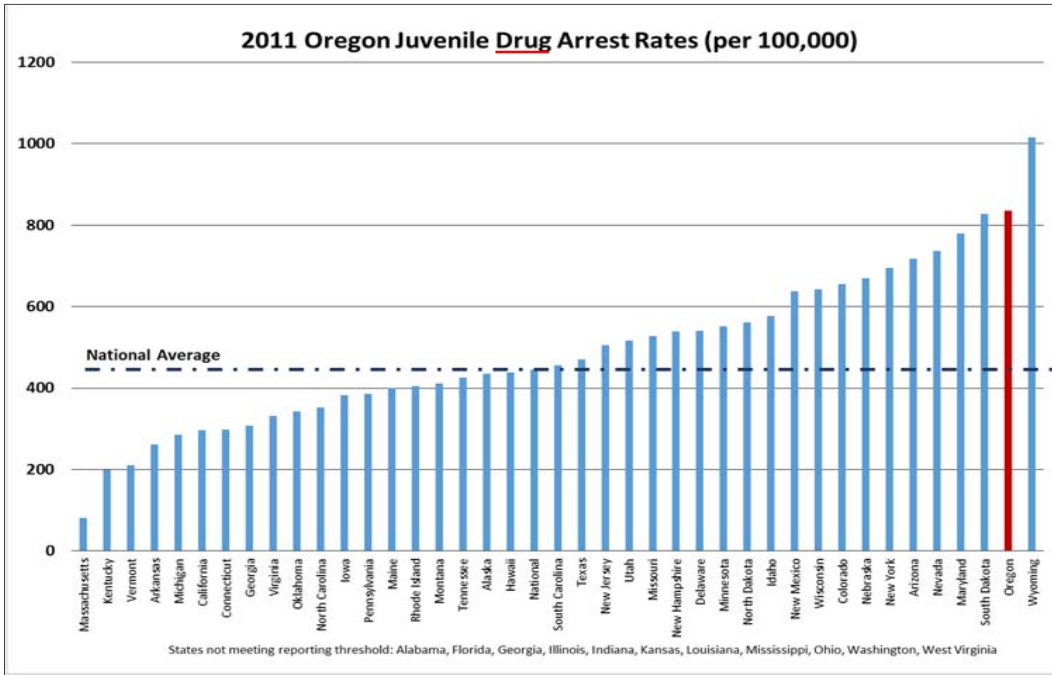

JUVENILE VIOLENT, PROPERTY AND DRUG CRIME CHARTS

Based on the most recently available crime rate data³, Oregon’s juvenile crime rate (crimes within M11) is well below the national average, however, it’s juvenile property crime and juvenile drug crime rates (non-M11) are well above the national average.⁴

³ The use of 2011 data is largely due to the fact that in 2013 OJJDP stopped reporting all the index crimes as reported to the FBI. That eliminated rape and homicide for violent crimes and burglary and car theft for property crimes.

⁴ New data sets through 2016 can be found online at: <https://www.ojjdp.gov/ojstatbb/crime/ga05103.asp?qaDate=2016>. Based on this data, Oregon's juvenile violent crime rates still outperform the majority of other states. Oregon's juvenile property crime rates are still above the national averages and Oregon's juvenile drug rates remain much higher than national averages.

CONCLUSION

In 1994 Oregon voters were asked whether or not there should be mandatory minimum sentences for the most violent types of crimes for all offenders 15 years of age and older. Oregon voters overwhelmingly approved minimum sentences with 66% of the vote and again reaffirmed in 2000 when efforts were taken to repeal the minimum sentences – rejecting the repeal with 73% of the vote. Measure 11 established state priorities for sentencing of violent crimes – with proportional, consistent and fairly applied sentences. The mandatory minimum sentences were based on average sentences for similar crimes across the county. Within one year of adoption, Oregon became the #1 state in the reduction of violent crimes across the country and today violent crime has decreased by more than 50% and Oregon’s juvenile crime rate is well below the national average.

With the ongoing debate on Measure 11, it is fair to ask why so much emphasis is being placed on a law that has brought so much safety and justice to crime victims and communities. Violent crime has decreased by more than 50% and violent crime sentences are now proportional to the criminal conduct of the offenders, thereby providing a sense of justice to crime victims and their communities. It is important to remember that without Measure 11 virtually all of these offenders would have remained in the juvenile system without any significant consequences for their behavior. That is precisely the system that existed before Measure 11 was overwhelmingly passed by the voters.

As some policy makers consider efforts to repeal all, or portions of, Measure 11, we must ask what is broken about the law that provides proportional, consistent and fairly applied sentences across the State to our most violent offenders? Any conversation must take into account the victims voice and the communities we all strive to protect.

Rather than focusing on the tiny number of serious violent juvenile offenders in Measure 11, perhaps our state would be better served by focusing on the 99% of the juvenile system that needs to reduce its crime rates.

Murder (x 6), Murder, Robbery I, Burglary I	Murder	96115507	16315	DOC			Defendant (age 16, 17) was accused of murdering 89 y.o. Victim Chris. Chris was beaten with a blunt instrument and also stabbed multiple times. Chris's wallet and money were stolen. At trial, defendant tried to show that he had accomplices that actually committed the killing, but there was scant evidence of that being the case. There was enough, however, for the appellate courts to reverse for a new trial on Agg. Murder. It should be noted that defendant committed several more crimes the night of the Chris Murder (a Burglary and a Robbery) at another location in the same area before the Chris Murder. These other crimes were not charged and the state selected to try only the Chris cases.

He beat a man with a large stick and, according to his statement to the police, thought he had killed him. He was on probation with the Coos County Juvenile Department for a Burglary I at the time of the incident. He was allowed to plead guilty to the lesser charge of Assault II. He received a sentence of 70 months with 36 months PPS. He was released from prison, committed another felony in another county, returned to prison, been released from prison, committed another felony in Coos County in 17C009643, and been sentenced to prison for the third time on 4/10/17. The admit date of 4/11/17 included on the spread sheet coincides with his latest criminal conviction in 17C009643. According to the indictment, he committed this offense on 2/13/17 at the age of 36.

However, he was 19 y.o.a. at the time the crime was reported and he was arrested, indicted, and convicted. According to counsel in the state of Oregon, as a general rule, if a person is over the age of 18 at the time of a crime, the crime should be treated as if committed by an adult. This is true even if the person was under the age of 18 when he or she committed the acts that gave rise to the charge. This case was not in adult court due to the charges being Measure 11 offenses. I do not believe he served any time in a YCF, nor do I think he was eligible to do so under the circumstances. Therefore, he should not be considered a Measure 11 "youth."

Defendant accepted plea offer.	Alex Camacho was a resident of Rimrock Trails Adolescent Treatment Center located in Prineville. On May 5, 2007, he was in the van with his friends, Michael Gilgan, Michael Camacho, and Brian Pflar. An employee of Rimrock Trails drove the van for the activity. After the hike, all of the residents ate lunch near the van and discussed a plan to attack the driver and steal the van. On the way back to Rimrock, Camacho sitting directly behind the driver, started choking him as he was turning onto the highway back to Prineville. At the same time, Michael Gilgan, sitting next to Camacho, began punching the driver in the face. Just as the van was about to turn onto the highway, Michael Camacho threw the driver out of the van. While it was still moving, Gilgan and Camacho threw the driver out onto the highway. He landed in the opposite lane and had to get up to avoid oncoming traffic. After Gilgan and Camacho threw the driver out of the van, Camacho got into the driver's seat. Two boys left the van through the side door. Another boy tried to escape by running through the front door. Camacho then drove forward and ran him over again. Camacho started driving towards Prineville. He stopped the van and the rest of the boys left and called police officers.
