

Electing a President of the US in the convoluted way that we do now, is a holdover from a past that no longer serves the voters. If democracy means that everyone's vote has equal weight, then the state winner take all system of awarding electoral votes is highly anti-democratic, and effectively disenfranchises about half of the electorate. It is way past time that our representatives correct this flaw in our electoral system. Please pass SB870, the National Popular Vote Interstate Compact, that more clearly will reflect the will of the electorate when choosing the chief executive of the United States.

Thanks.

Miriam Reinhart
30710 Luckey Lane
Junction City, OR 97448

Sent from my iPad