

Re: the gun bills

I know you are trying to do the right thing but please consider the wisdom of making everyone who obeys the law defenseless when mass murderers aren't likely to pay any attention to the law and even worse, will be drawn to areas where they know no one can be armed and able to stop them.

Talking with a former police officer, I was told the data shows that in many mass shooting situations, the murderer simply seeing someone aiming a gun at him causes him to either shoot himself or give up.

I agree with you on many issues but I really can't make sense of this.

Please consider the consequences of this kind of legislation.

Thanks you - Scott
