

When the government attacks the law abiding, it is pure evil. There is no possible justification.