Re: I SUPPORT: [HCR 33]-with amendment.

[HCR 33] requires an amendment that removes hyperbole associated with a "100 year plan" with a smidgeon of common sense to address water availability and quality issues presently and for the near future.

I have read the tear-full diatribes of fellow testimony presenters and I am wholly unimpressed with their opinions and directions concerning water issues for the harebrained "100 year plan."

How many Oregon cities have an operational Reclaimed Water Program associated with their respective Publically Owned Treatment Works?

How many Oregon cities discharge their final effluent (treated sewage) into the receiving waters instead of discharging the final effluent into "percolation ponds" for ground-water recharge?

How many "Desalination" facilities are planned, designed and funded, let's say, for ten-years from now?

How many elected officials will quit using mind-altering drugs, clean themselves up and realize permitting unrestrained growth of High Tech and Service Industries, while systematically killing off the agricultural economy, has enormous and deleterious effects on water quality and availability?

How many House and Senate Bills are designed for unbridled economic development and growth of rural and Eastern Oregon with respect to the water needs of these asinine quixotic pursuits?

How many water storage facilities such as new lakes and dams to alleviate flood plains and reroute river and or stream waters being discussed and or contemplated?

All of you have some of the brightest minds in the country at your beckoned call and yet you twiddle and twaddle your thumbs waiting for an answer to bite you in the butt for the next 100 years.

Fortunately for me, in a 100 years from now, if everything goes right, I'll be at least sixty years in Heaven hanging out with Lord Jesus making all sorts of jokes about how down-right dumb you folks have become.

Respectfully submitted,
/s/ David S. Wall
