BACKGROUND:

Naloxone is a medication designed to rapidly reverse opioid overdose. It binds to opioid receptors and can reverse and block the effects of other opioids. It can very quickly restore normal respiration to a person whose breathing has slowed or stopped as a result of overdosing with heroin or prescription opioid pain medications. In 2016, there were 312 opioid-related overdose deaths in Oregon, a rate of 7.6 deaths per 100,000 persons compared to the national rate of 13.3 deaths per 100,000. Senate Bill 665 A permits school districts to adopt rules to allow trained school personnel to administer naloxone and similar medications if a student or other individual overdoses on opioids at school, on school property, or at a school-sponsored activity.
