ISSUES DISCUSSED:

EFFECT OF AMENDMENT:

-A6 Removes General Fund appropriation for translations of business filing forms and new staff; provides Other Funds expenditure limitation to translate business filing forms; removes requirement that forms be available electronically.

BACKGROUND:

Businesses file documents with the Secretary of State when starting a business and annually thereafter. They must also file to report certain changes, such as changes in location, registered agent, or ownership. Current law allows foreign business filings to be in a language other than English if the filing is accompanied by a reasonably authenticated English translation. Business filings are public records.

House Bill 2998 - A removes the requirement that business filings with the Secretary of State be in English and requires the Secretary of State to make the forms available in five languages in addition to English. The measure requires a person completing the form with information written in a language other than English to submit a reasonably authenticated English translation.
