House Committee On Rules

Prepared By: Josh Nasbe, Counsel

Meeting Dates: 6/10, 6/13

WHAT THE MEASURE DOES:

Requires county clerk, following primary, general, or special election, to conduct hand count audit or risk-limiting audit.

ISSUES DISCUSSED:

EFFECT OF AMENDMENT:

No amendment.

BACKGROUND:

After each general election, ORS 254.529 requires county clerks to conduct a limited hand count of ballots and compare the results with the results produced by the vote tally system. If the hand count results in a difference that is less than or equal to one-half of one percent, the voting record produced by the vote tally system is the official tally. If, after two rounds of hand counts, a difference greater than one-half of one percent remains, all of the ballots must be counted by hand and the results of this hand count is ultimately certified.

Senate Bill 944 A requires that an audit be conducted after every election, whether primary, general, or special. The bill also authorizes, as an alternative to a hand count audit, a risk-limiting audit. Under the bill, a risk-limiting audit is defined as "a set of procedures to ensure that the risk does not exceed the risk limit." The bill also includes several specifications of a risk-limiting audit, including that the risk-limiting audit be observable to the public and be based on direct visual human examination of elector-marked ballots.
