

Dear sirs, I am an occasional bike rider, and I believe the Idaho stop law should be ratified in Oregon! It is a large amount of effort to restart your bike after you have stopped at a stop sign. If there isn't any traffic, there's really no point in making a stop. You still need to stop when there is cross traffic, just like it was a stop sign, but if there is no cross traffic, It is completely pointless to bring your bike to a complete halt at a stop sign.
