BACKGROUND:

The federal Secure Rural Schools (SRS) program provided assistance to rural counties and school districts affected by the decline in revenue from timber harvests on federal lands. Historically, rural communities and schools have relied on a share of receipts from timber harvests to supplement local funding for education services and roads. During the 1980s, forest management practices changed substantially, diminishing the revenue-generating activity permitted. The resulting steep decline in timber sales decreased the revenues that rural counties and school districts received from forest management activities. The SRS program expired in September 2015.

House Bill 2358 would create the Oregon County Assistance Fund (Fund), and direct the Oregon Department of Revenue to use moneys from the Fund to provide grants to counties seeking to consolidate or share services. It specifies they receive at least 30 percent of their total county General Fund budget from SRS funding in 2008.
