Minimal Revenue Impact

Currently 1167 Winery and Grower Sales licenses in Oregon that are subject to the documentation of their grape-tonnage tax related activities. Wineries report multiple vineyard feedstocks- OLCC processes each vineyard report and reconciles reported sales with reports from wineries. Oregon Liquor Control Commission currently has no means and is not tracking grape production from growers who ship out of state and do not report, or out-of-state wineries that do not report using Oregon grown grapes. The OLCC does not know the volume of exported grapes and cannot provide a fair estimate of revenue from exported grapes that are then imported as wine. However, the amount is expected to be small when it comes to actual revenue changes.
