WHAT THE MEASURE DOES:

Increases taxes for emergency communications to $1.25 per month or per transaction as appropriate, phased in over two years: $1.00 in first year and $1.25 in second year. Adjusts administrative and collection cost caps to Department of Revenue and Office of Emergency Management. Extends sunset from 2022 to 2030. Specifies that interest earned by the Emergency Communications Account must be credited to the 9-1-1 Subaccount.

ISSUES DISCUSSED:

- Currently fee remains un-updated since 1991.
- Call volume has increased.
- Budget and accounting and state local cost burden.
- Agency membership fees combined with local dollars join with state dollars to fund.
- Other bills relating to the phone industry this session.
- Oregon vs national phone tax rankings.
- Text to 911 capabilities cost and implications.
- Integration of software cost and implications.

EFFECT OF AMENDMENT:

Reduces overall 911 fee increase from introduced version and modifies administrative allocations to agencies

BACKGROUND:

The three-digit telephone number 9-1-1 has been designated as the universal emergency number for citizens throughout the United States to request emergency assistance. It traces its origins to 1957, when the National Association of Fire Chiefs recommended usage of a single number for reporting fires; in 1967, the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice recommended that a single number for reporting emergency situations was preferable to using different numbers for each type of emergency.

Currently the Emergency Communications Tax, commonly referred to as the 9-1-1 Tax in Oregon, is assessed at 75 cents per phone line or per device capable of reaching 9-1-1. The tax is collected quarterly by the Oregon Department of Revenue.
