Impact Explanation:

Intangible 130% central assessment cap: This caps the intangible taxable value for centrally assessed companies under OR 308.515. The tax expenditure is generated from the reduction in taxable value from data and communication companies with large intangible assets. Schools experience approximately 47% of the tax revenue loss, while general government takes 53%. In addition, approximately 15% of the total impact is shouldered by the other taxpayers in the form of bond re-allocation. The table above reflects that the first year of impact is the 2022-2023 tax year.

Land held by non-profit for low income housing: The tax expenditure for this program is minimal. Although it is not permissive, it only applies to bare land, and therefore has not historically created a revenue loss greater than $200,000 per biennium.

Cargo containers: The tax expenditure for this program is minimal. Although it is not permissive, it has only created a revenue loss of less than $100,000 per biennium.

Homestead for spouses of fallen public safety officers: The impact is minimal. As it is permissive, it has historically had a revenue loss of less than $100,000 per biennium.
