Senate Concurrent Resolution 23

Sponsored by Senator JOHNSON

Whereas Thomas Herbert McAllister Jr. was born on May 6, 1926, in Portland, Oregon, to Thomas Herbert McAllister Sr. and Winifred Layley McAllister; and

Whereas Tom McAllister's lifelong love affair with nature began at an early age with a class called "Nature Study" in the Portland Public Schools; and

Whereas during high school Tom McAllister was a volunteer naturalist at the Malheur National Wildlife Refuge and served as a fire lookout on Hager Mountain; and

Whereas Tom McAllister graduated from Grant High School in Portland in 1943; and

Whereas Tom McAllister served in the United States Navy during World War II, helping to set up a naval hospital at Camp Adair, Oregon, and working as a pharmacist's mate in the Philippines; and

Whereas after the war, Tom McAllister worked during the summers on a 12-mule pack team hauling fingerling trout to stock high lakes in the Cascade Mountains; and

Whereas in 1948, Tom McAllister married Barbara Lou Butler, and they raised a family of four children and six grandchildren; and

Whereas in 1950, Tom McAllister graduated from Oregon State College (now Oregon State University), earning one of the first degrees offered by the college in its newly established discipline of fish and wildlife management; and

Whereas after graduating from college, Tom McAllister worked for the Oregon Game Commission (now the State Department of Fish and Wildlife); and

Whereas in 1953, Tom McAllister was employed by the Oregon Journal in a newly created position as outdoor editor, and he wrote the popular column "Wide Open Spaces," along with a winter skiing column, until the paper merged with The Oregonian in 1982; and

Whereas Tom McAllister continued as an outdoor editor and columnist at The Oregonian until retiring in 1992 after 39 years of full-time journalism; and

Whereas Tom McAllister worked for 15 years as a historian and naturalist for Lindblad Expeditions cruises in Alaska and on the Columbia River; and

Whereas Tom McAllister first joined the Audubon Society of Portland at the age of 12 years, and he continued to be an active member for a remarkable 78 years, becoming the society's oldest member; and

Whereas Tom McAllister was a longtime member of the Oregon Historical Society, the Oregon Field Ornithologists, the Oregon Duck Hunters Association and The Wildlife Society and a founding member of the Flyfishers' Club of Oregon and the Oregon chapter of The Nature Conservancy; and

Whereas Tom McAllister was a founding member of the Lewis and Clark Columbia River Water Trail Association, which worked to establish a designated route for kayakers, canoeists and other boaters touring the lower Columbia River; and

Whereas Tom McAllister served as a board member for the Oregon State Parks Foundation and the Oregon Wildlife Foundation and as chairman of the Izaak Walton League; and

Whereas Oregon Governor Tom McCall named Tom McAllister president of the committee that nominated Oregon rivers for protection under the federal Wild and Scenic Rivers Act of 1968; and

Whereas Tom McAllister was a member of the Oregon Geographic Names Board for decades, including many years as president, leaving his mark on the state through his devoted efforts to ensure that our place names reflect the authentic history of Oregon, including the history of Native Americans; and

Whereas Tom McAllister died on March 12, 2018; and

Whereas Tom McAllister's ashes were laid to rest on a small island in the Metolius River, alongside his wife Barbara, who preceded him in death in 2015, close to the site of a cabin Tom and Barbara built together as a young couple; and

Whereas Tom McAllister was more than a legendary writer about the natural world, he was an active adventurer and a committed conservationist, working tirelessly to preserve Oregon's natural treasures; and

Whereas everything Tom McAllister wrote, as one of the many tributes he received put it, was infused with "his tireless passion for the earth and the water and the air"; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon:

That we, the members of the Eightieth Legislative Assembly, celebrate the life and accomplishments of Thomas Herbert McAllister Jr., and we recognize and honor his contributions to the people of this state; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be presented to the family of Tom McAllister as an expression of our sympathy and condolences.
