

I have some problems with proposed gun storage Bill. For personal defense at home you would need immediate access to your weapon to defend yourself. If it were locked up you could very well be badly beaten or dead. Law enforcement where I live is at least 20 minutes away. Also to shoot racoons after chickens in their pen you would need rapid access to your weapon. Yes they can get into most enclosures, personal experience. Also to shoot coyotes after new born calves you would also need immediate access to a weapon.

I hope you folks will take these thoughts into your meetings. Thank you for reading this. Ron Nieminen 79650
