

To Whom it May Concern:

I'm writing to express my position AGAINST HB4005. The logic behind this bill baffles me. If my car were stolen--because I did not lock the doors-- and then 18 months later it was used in a hit and run, it would be ludicrous to consider punishing me. But that's exactly what this bill is trying to legislate.

I realize a car is not a firearm, but the rules of reason and logic still apply. I am staunchly opposed to rules that dictate what happens to my property behind the locked doors of my home. I also cannot fathom the thought process behind making me accountable for some one else's actions--for TWO YEARS!

Please to not allow this bill to move on.

Thank you,
