

I was talking with Calla today about the outrageous statements of the Koch Brothers front organization, Timber Unity. Their lies can effect the success of vital environmental legislation that is in session now. I deeply disagree with their "argument" that timber jobs are at risk in a battle between rural citizens and environmentalists. They claim that ALL rural citizens want (clear cut) logging but environmentalists want NO logging. Thus environmentalists are for the ruination of rural economies and jobs. But this is not true. SUSTAINABLE AND RESTORATIVE LOGGING CREATES MORE JOBS AND LITTLE OR NO ENVIRONMENTAL HARM.

So I wanted to put together a statement on sustainable foresting that refutes Timber Unity. And speaks up on what WE really are FOR re: forestry. Good logging and good jobs! The short film below shows how this works on an 800 acre plot owned by Paul Hayes. Now please go to the bottom of the page and SIGN OUR PETITION! Thank you!!!

RURAL OREGONIANS STAND FOR FORESTING JOBS

The 2020 Short Legislative Session has begun and the clock is ticking for the environment and for rural jobs. Lawmakers have a dire decision ahead of them and we have little time to advocate for our communities. Real rural Oregonians know that logging has existed and will continue to exist as part of the Oregonian labor and economic picture. And the majority of us support that. We are the ones who live with the economic downturns related to the loss of logging jobs. But we are being falsely represented by the Koch Brothers' clone, Timber Unity, as having the opposite position. Let's be clear. Real rural Oregonians are against vast clearcutting, NOT logging. Rural Oregonians stand FOR sustainable logging practices. Practices that INCREASE jobs... while building sustainable, fire resistant forests.

STAND WITH RURAL OREGONIANS FOR SUSTAINABLE FOREST PRACTICES.

RURAL OREGONIANS ARE FOR SELECTIVE FORESTING BECAUSE:

- Cutting selectively INCREASES the number for of jobs for loggers.
- Cutting without aerial chemical spraying (standard clear cutting practice) prevents poisoning of our land and waterways
- Cutting weaker millable trees (that are not the best specimens for the health of the forest) has been shown to increase bird populations.
- Cutting selectively decreases damaging silting into waterways as well as landslides.
- Cutting selectively keeps shade over waterways and prevents overheating that harms aquatic life, including salmon and trout.
- Replanting with multiple types and ages of trees vitalizes forest health.

Let's be clear. Rural Oregonians CAN AND DO stand for a viable logging economy AND healthy forests. Clear cutting maximizes the bloated profits of Koch Brothers and other billionaire logging companies, while DECREASING jobs and forest health.

Join me in signing the SUSTAINABLE FOREST PRACTICES PETITION.
