I am a grass seed and wheat farmer in Oregon and clopyrifos is not a dangerous chemical. It is a restricted use chemical so not a lot of people have access to it unless you have training and a pesticide license . It's very safe. Most crops are only 24 hour REI period. Farners don't have a lot of other good products to use so losing this one will be burdensome with a potential of a lost or unsellable crop due to pests . Do not take away the tools in our toolbox. Vote no on h 4109.
