

I, Sylvia Colasacco, oppose SJR201. One day the democrat supermajority will NOT be a majority and if this goes through, the shoe will end up on the democrat's foot when bad bills get rushed through sloppily and ignoring a large part of Oregonian's who's representation may not be as strong as who ever the majority party is.

I used to be a democrat. I am disgusted with the supermajority's behavior. The democrat party has become tyrannical. The fact that they don't want to send a bill, (that shouldn't have even been brought up in the short session,) to the voters is indicative at just how tyrannical, desperate and short sighted they've become. More people are turning away from the democratic party. It's not a matter of if but when they lose their current majority. When they want to deny quorum, (which they have in the past,) this bill will have done away with that ability.

I suggest the democrat party of Oregon get out of their bubble and listen to the concerns of citizens no matter what political party they belong to. 18% of those who signed for Governor Brown's recall were democrats. Keep that in mind before continuing to act drunk with power.

Sincerely,
Sylvia Colasacco
