

With all due respect, this is just the latest in a long series of bullying practices by the majority party. We have been asking for, and the Republican legislators have been advocating for, a vote on the Cap & Trade legislation. It is amazing to me that the majority will not refer C&T to the voters, but will refer legislation to remove the last option to limit the majorities abuses of power. A Lot of Oregonians have been watching what is going on in Salem closer since the similar crisis during the 2019 session. When I heard the level of antics being pulled this year I just can't keep silent. Regardless of our political perspective, we are all very concerned about the actions of the Governor and the super majority legislators this year. We elect people we think will represent us in our government and we support the process even if we disagree with the final outcome. But the integrity and actions of our government are important. The party of the super-majority this year may be the minority party in the future. Actions have consequences and what we have heard about and witnessed by Democrats this session are wrong no matter which party you identify with. Things have gone to far. Stop the abuse!

Kathy L. Moore
Life long Oregonian