CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

Whereas the centennial of Oregon's ratification of the Nineteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution, which placed women's voting rights in the constitution, occurred on January 14, 2020; and

Whereas most Oregon women achieved voting rights on November 5, 1912, after a decades-long struggle on the part of diverse women and men across this state, including some women of color who braved systemic discrimination in order to participate; and

Whereas after achieving the vote in 1912, and before the ratification of the Nineteenth Amendment in 1920, many Oregon women engaged in the rights and obligations of voting citizenship by registering to vote, educating themselves and others about candidates and ballot measures, voting in municipal, state and national elections, running for elected office and serving in elected office at the local and statewide levels, which provided a foundation for future civic engagement on the part of Oregon women after 1920; and

Whereas Oregon women worked for the successful passage of the federal suffrage amendment through their membership in the National American Woman Suffrage Association and the National Woman's Party; and

Whereas in his “Message to the Special Session” on January 12, 1920, Oregon Governor Ben W. Olcott expressed his pleasure at forwarding the federal suffrage amendment to the Oregon legislature for ratification and urged legislators to ratify it unanimously; and

Whereas Representative Sylvia Thompson (D-The Dalles), the third woman to serve in the Oregon legislature, and Senator Robert Farrell Sr. (R-Multnomah County) sponsored a resolution to ratify the Nineteenth Amendment on January 12, 1920, the first day of the 1920 legislative special session; and

Whereas the members of the Oregon House of Representatives and Senate voted unanimously to ratify the Nineteenth Amendment, which reads: “The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex. Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.”; and

Whereas House Joint Resolution 1 (1920), the Oregon measure ratifying the Nineteenth Amendment, was filed with the Secretary of State on January 14, 1920, making Oregon the 25th state to ratify; and

Whereas the Nineteenth Amendment was officially adopted on August 26, 1920; and

Whereas since 1920, Oregonians have challenged continuing barriers to voting rights by participating in civil rights struggles to extend human rights to all citizens; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the Legislative Assembly of the State of Oregon:

That we, the members of the Eightieth Legislative Assembly, commemorate the centennial of Oregon’s ratification of the Nineteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution, and we honor the efforts of the many great women and men who led the woman suffrage campaign in Oregon.
